ILION, N.Y. (WKTV) - Congressman Richard Hanna spent Monday afternoon doing a little bit of recruiting at Ilion Jr/Sr High School, seeking out any teenagers who may have an interest in a military career.

In order for a student to be considered for acceptance to a military academy, they must have the appointment of the sitting United States Representative from their district.

On Monday, Congressman Hanna told juniors at Ilion that it's important to be a well-rounded student, saying that academics need to be a priority as well as having a commitment to your community.
