

By Pete Kasperowicz - 10/25/11 02:20 PM ET

The Hill's Floor Action Blog

House Republicans and Democrats on Tuesday managed to enjoy a rare moment of bipartisanship, but on a bill far less controversial than what usually gets them fighting — one that calls for a commemorative coin marking the upcoming 75th anniversary of the Baseball Hall of Fame.

To read the full report, click here.