

I voted Yes on H.R. 2433, the Veteran Opportunity to Work (VOW) Act of 2011, a bill I also a co-sponsored. This legislation incorporates education and training to provide veterans with an opportunity to better compete in a 21st Century economy. It also would provide better job protections for National Guardsmen and Reserves returning from active service.

As a nation, we should ensure our veterans receive the skills necessary to market themselves in the workforce. These young men and women commit to defend our nation and we can commit to seeing they have every opportunity to find a job when they return home.
